Plan Flood Work in Coleman And High River

Province to Spend $40,000 in Flood Control; Work to Start Immediately

-Edmonton, April 14 - The provincial government will start immediately on a $40,000 program of flood prevention work at Coleman and High River it was announced today by public works minister W. A. Fallow.

Recently returned from an inspection trip through southern Alberta, Mr. Fallow warned that very serious flood damage probably will result at Coleman and High River due to exceptionally heavy snow conditions in the mountains, unless something were done.

He said the flood prevention work at the two points, entailing the erection of protective works, will be commenced immediately and will be completed before the flood threat develops with the melting of mountain snows in June. The town of High River has agreed to pay $5,000 towards the cost and Canadian Pacific Railway also will pay $5,000 as well as spending a considerable amount to protect its own property.

Veronica Janostak Honored by Rear Admiral Louis Denfield

Second Lieut. Veronica Janostak was mentioned in a despatch from Washington today that she was one of five civilian nurses who had received a letter of recommendation from Rear Admiral Louis Denfield, assistant Chief of Bureau Personnel, for her work in a First Aid station at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, during the Japanese raid on that town.

The citation states Miss Janostak "worked without regard to personal safety in attending military and civilian casualties."

Miss Veronica Janostak, R.N., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Janostak, last month enlisted in the Women's Division of the United States Air Force, and has now been posted as a Second Lieutenant in the Station hospital, Army-Air base at Great Falls, Montana.

Second Lieut. Janostak has been a member of the Sacred Heart hospital staff at Spokane for the past thirteen years, having gone to that city after graduating from the local high school. She visits her parents here each year and is well known locally.

BRACKEN TO VISIT FERNIE AND MICHEL

According to a Cranbrook despatch, John Bracken, newly-elected leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, will visit Cranbrook, Kimberley, Nelson, Trail, the Kaslo-Slocan district, Creston, Fernie and Michel, the latter place on May 5.

Should he visit Michel for a public meeting, it is possible a number of Coleman citizens will motor to the B.C. town to hear him.

Crows Nest Pass Musical Festival April 19, 20, 21

Number of Youngsters to Represent Coleman in Vocal, Piano and Violin Classes.

The annual Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival will be held in the Columbus hall, Blairmore, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 19, 20 and 21.

A splendid entry list has been received by Secretary Mrs. Marchant from all Pass towns and also from towns in southeastern B.C.

Coleman will be represented by a number of youngsters who have been practicing regularly for the big annual event. Margaret McLellan is entered in the vocal class and it is learned she will sing in a trio with two other local girls whose names could not be learned. Isobel Ewing and Gordon Roper have entered the piano-violin ensemble class, as have also the two Graham brothers, John and Donald. It is expected that a number of individual entries have been received from Coleman artists.

Mr. J. Ouellette, 1919 town councillor, his high school choir nor his United church choir for the second straight year.

A feature of Monday evening's program will be the appearance on the stage of Blairmore's Air Cadet bugle band. This group of youths only recently secured their instruments and organized their band. They have made good progress and the public will now be given a chance to hear them.

The adjudicator is Max Pirani. Born in Melbourne, Australia, he began the study of music at an early age; made first public appearance at the age of 10. After three years' study as scholarship student at the Melbourne Conservatorium of Music, went to London, England, early in 1914. Studied with Max Vogrich in London and in New York. Enlisted in the Australian Imperial Force and served in France in 1918.

In Australia, 1919-1920, made a concert tour with Lella Doubleday, violinist, and returned to England in 1920 to settle in London, performing and teaching.

In 1923, with Lella Doubleday and Charles Hambourg, cellist, formed the Pirani trio, which had a permanent place in English musical life until 1940.

In 1925 was appointed to the staff of the Royal Academy of Music as professor of pianoforte and was awarded the degree of honorary member of the Royal Academy of Music in 1932. From 1927 has examined for the Royal Schools of Music and, besides regular examination tours throughout the British Isles, has made Dominion tours to Australia, South Africa, India, New Zealand and Canada.

Between 1920 and 1942 has been very active as concert-pianist. Has played and broadcast in England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Finland, Scandinavia, South Africa, India, New Zealand, Australia, Canada and the U.S.A.

In the summers of 1941-1942 directed the music department of the School of Fine Arts in Banff, Canada, and has been re-engaged for 1943. Has held piano courses in Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. Adjudicated in 1942 at Stratford, Ontario, and at the Alberta Provincial Festival at Calgary. Has been engaged as adjudicator for 1943 at the Manitoba, British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan provincial festivals.

Alex. Beck, Pioneer of The Crows Nest Pass, Passed Away at Vancouver on Saturday

Had Led An Active Life in Both Eastern and Western Canada; Retired Ten Years Ago; Funeral Here This Afternoon.

One of the real old timers of Coleman and the Crows' Nest Pass passed away at Vancouver on Saturday in the person of Alex. Beck, 79 years and 11 months. Deceased left Coleman last June for Vancouver, where he had hoped to recuperate in health.

He was born in the province of Quebec, and upon reaching manhood, moved with his brother Tom to Manitoulin Island, Ontario, in 1890.

Three years later he moved to Webwood, Ontario, where he married the late Mrs. Beck. While in the east he engaged in logging, steamboat, ore mining and the restaurant business.

He came west when the C. P. R. was commencing to lay track through the Pass. The rail only reached Lundbreck, and from that town to Fernie, he travelled by "tote-wagon," where he took up residence. At the latter city he managed a boarding house owned by the coal company for a number of years. He later branched out in business for himself and started a restaurant and a bakery in Fernie.

In 1904 he and his family moved to Taber, a town which was then very young in years. Here he started a bakery and built the first Taber theatre. He resided in that town for ten years, coming to Coleman in 1914.

His early years in Coleman were spent as a contractor in government road projects. He later started a flour and feed business. He is best known, however, for his interest in fox breeding, and for a number of years managed the business of Star Creek Fox Farm, being associated with his sons-in-law, Alfred "Doc" Barbour and Norman MacAulay, in the business. He was owner of a large section of land immediately west of town and which is commonly referred to as Beck's Township.

While never a member of the local council or school board, he took an interest in community activities and served on a number of committees along with the late Alex. Cameron.

He was a staunch supporter of St. Paul's United church, and for many years was a member of the board of managers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. A. Barbour, of Lethbridge, and Mrs. Norman MacAulay, of Coleman; and three sons, Fernie, of Vancouver; William, of Hillcrest, and Wallace, of Vancouver; also a grand-daughter, Germain Beck, of Edmonton, and a brother, Tom Beck, of Fernie. His wife predeceased him two years ago.

The body was shipped from Vancouver on Monday and the funeral will be held here this afternoon, interment being in Coleman Union cemetery.

AN APPRECIATION OF MR. ALEX. BECK

It was with surprise and deep regret that our church learned of the sudden passing of Mr. Alex. Beck on Saturday in his eightieth year.

During the last two or three years Mr. Beck had failed some, and latterly had suffered from a heart condition which kept him somewhat closer to his home in Willow Drive. In June of last year he decided, partly on the advice of his doctors, to take an extended visit to the B.C. coast, and for the last few months has been residing at Vancouver. Recently he had been making enquiries about returning to Coleman, but our spring weather continued cold and he decided to remain at Vancouver for a few weeks till weather warmed up in the mountains. Then suddenly on the Friday evening he was seized with a heart attack and passed away early Saturday morning.

The Coleman Victory Loan committee is promised a hot time for the Town of Coleman Easter Sunday. A Blackout, ground defences and Fire works with tracer bullets and all that goes with it.

The committee has begun the organization work for the big occasion and if all goes well and the weather is clear citizens should have an inkling of what goes on in the war areas. This should be the best attraction the Victory Loan committee has brought about to make citizens realize more convincingly that to buy bonds now is to avoid bombs later.

Victory Bonds earn 3 per cent. and are as good as cash or money in the bank. They are guaranteed by the government so get ready and buy all you can to put the loan over the top. No matter how much you are doing now, you can do more!

Must Keep Reminding The Public

No matter how many years you may have been in business, there must be persistent and continual effort to meet competition. The public memory is very short, and to keep your name or your business constantly before the people it is necessary that advertising be used. After this war is over there will be keen competition to secure business, and it is well to retain goodwill now by keeping your store or business in the public mind.

Eternal vigilance is the price of success.

Prevention Taken Against Spread of Scarlet Fever

Central and High Schools Fumigated on Tuesday Morning; Children Out of School Two Days.

Cases of scarlet fever have been found in town and as a preventive from the disease, Coleman central school was closed on Tuesday morning in order that the class rooms could be fumigated. Cameron school was to be closed today and Friday.

It appears that scarlet fever was contacted by a child in one home and it was not known for some time, the doctor being called in a few days later. In the meantime members of the family had been going to school and mingling with other children.

Central school was scheduled to open this morning. In the meantime children were having a foretaste of summer holidays in bright warm spring weather.

Miss Canadas Sell $89 in War Stamps on Saturday

Miss Frances Dibblee Sells $24 Worth to One Customer; Seven Girls on Duty.

Seven local Miss Canadas were on the job on Saturday selling war stamps to the public. Sales totalled $89, which compares favorably with sales of past months.

To Miss Frances Dibblee went the honor of selling the largest single order of the day. Approaching one young lady to purchase stamps she received quite a surprise when the lady remarked, "Yes, I would like $24 worth." Frances lost no time in securing the necessary stamps for the purchase. A $20 war stamp sale was made by a Miss Canada some weeks ago.

Those taking part in Saturday's sales were the Misses Frances Dibblee, Lenore Dafeo, Corinne Fraser, Louise Aboussay, Betty Hillary, Shirley Hubbert and Christina Bubnick.

Red Cross Strives to Reach $2,000 Mark in Campaign

Collections Up To Tuesday Evening Totalled $1,675.34; Campaign Closes Today, April 15.

Regular meeting of the Coleman branch of the Canadian Red Cross was held in the council chamber on Tuesday evening, President W. Dutil, presiding.

Treasurer J. A. Park gave his report on the campaign, which has been in progress for the past month and which will wind up on April 15. He revealed that collections up to Tuesday evening totalled $1,675.34 and that it was the aim of the committee to strive to reach the $2,000 mark, and so double the allotted quota of $1,000 given Coleman at the start of the national campaign.

A number of private homes have yet to be canvassed as well as some business places. Should the executive be a little short of its $2,000 objective, it is quite possible that a concert will be sponsored to reach the objective.

A $10 donation was received from the local Polish Society along with a request for the May 1 dance date, which happens to be a Saturday and on which the Red Cross has its weekly dance. The donation will be acknowledged, and it was agreed to forego the Red Cross dance May 1 in order that the Polish Society may engage the Red Cross orchestra.

A donation of $2.13 was received from a Mr. M. Matus, of Calgary.

A letter was received from the East Kootenay Power Co., stating that the contributions made to the Red Cross campaign by employees at Sentinel power plant had been deducted from their pay cheques at the Fernie head office and the money given to Fernie's Red Cross branch. The company stated, however, that next year it could probably be arranged where the Sentinel contributions could be given the Coleman branch. The letter will be acknowledged and the East Kootenay Power Co. informed that the local branch would be pleased to receive the Sentinel employees' contribution in the future.

A letter from Minerva Chapter, O.E.S., revealed that Mrs. Kate Johnson was the Chapter's 1943 representative at Red Cross meetings.

Enquiry by the secretary to provincial headquarters had revealed that no special forms existed to aid in sending parcels to prisoners of war in the Far East. Cables could be sent, costing $10, but no guarantee was made that the message would reach the prisoner.

The Greek Nation

WHILE WE WATCH the growing strength of the active forces of the United Nations on all fronts, we are frequently reminded of the many democratic countries who are for the present under Axis domination and are unable to fight openly for their freedom. Among these nations is Greece, whose heroic resistance to the Axis invasion has aroused great admiration. The recent anniversary of Greece's Independence day has again brought to attention the many admirable qualities of her people. In March 1921, one hundred and twenty-two years ago, the Greek people won their independence from the Ottoman Empire, and since that time the modern Greece has developed. There have been periods of internal strife and of foreign disputes, but in the years preceding this war, Greece had become a fully united nation with every prospect of an assured and successful future.

Patriot Army Resists Enemy

Greece is a country with a great and ancient cultural heritage. The people also have the Western outlook toward democracy, and their profound belief in this was demonstrated when their country was invaded. The Greek armies inflicted overwhelming defeat on the Italians, who were the first to enter the country. When Germany came to the aid of her ally, the Greek resistance was finally overcome. There remains, however, an army of 30,000 patriots who carry on the fight. This army wrecks trains, dynamites bridges, sabotages public utilities and in every way possible causes trouble for the invading forces. It is said that every man, woman and child in Greece aids this army, and that in spite of the situation in their country now, the spirit of the Greek people is not broken, and that they resist the enemy in every possible way.

Supplies And Food Are Sent

More than a million people, or approximately one-fifth of the entire population of Greece, have died or been physically incapacitated by starvation since the Nazi occupation of the country. Many others have been executed or imprisoned, and the full fury of Nazi barbarism has been felt there. The situation has been fully realized throughout the United Nations and Canada, and Canadians have helped in many ways to relieve some of the sufferings of the Greek people. A number of shipments of Canadian wheat have been sent, as have other foodstuffs and supplies. These have been distributed under the supervision of the International Red Cross Society. Generous support has also been given here to the Greek War Relief Fund, through which food and medical supplies are sent. In these ways the people of Canada are showing their sympathy and admiration for Greece and are doing much to maintain the splendid morale of the people there.

LETTER-WRITING PROBLEMS CAN BE SOLVED SO EASILY

Family Conference Over a Note!
Stuck again! Every time she writes a letter, the whole family has to puzzle over it. "Is this right," she asks pathetically.

Well—is it? "I got your invitation. Thanks for asking me. I can come." Sounds awfully flat, but no one's sure how to fix it!

How different when you have pointers on letter-writing, samples to guide you. No choppy, crude sentences, no pen-chewing then!

To a very informal invitation you reply chattily. "You were a dear to invite me." Or to a more formal one: "It is delightful of you to ask me to dinner on the fifteenth at half-past seven. I will be happy to come."

Such pleasing letters attract the kind of people you like to cultivate, and they certainly influence your business standing.

An employer is impressed when you know the up-to-date business phrases—"enclosed is" rather than "enclosed please find," "received" instead of "to hand."

Our 32-page booklet has 24 sample letters, including letters of sympathy, congratulation, friendship, application. Gives letter etiquette, errors to avoid; how to make letters interesting.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

The Future Of Gold

New Monetary Unit Will Be Based On Precious Metal

Enemies of, and scoffers at gold should take careful note of the post-war plans reportedly now being made in discussions between United Nations representatives.

Reports are that spokesmen for Britain and the United States have drawn up a draft agreement calling for establishment of an international exchange clearing authority which will keep accounts in terms of a new monetary unit, based on gold and to be called the Bancor.

Quite apart from arguments in favor of gold as the measuring stick of value is this inescapable and very practical fact: The big three United Nations powers all have a very important stake in gold—the British Empire and Russia are the world's great gold producers; the United States is the world's great gold holder.

No matter what some people may say against gold, any government, less than completely mad, is certainly not going to add to its fiscal problems by taking action that would render gold a less desirable property. A proposal, such as that now reported, should end nonsense talking about the product of an important Canadian industry.—Toronto Financial Post.

Kept Them Cool

Trappers Hed To Supply Ice Blocks For Polar Bear Cubs

The baggage car crew of a C.N.R. train en route to Quebec recently had the task of supplying ice blocks to keep three polar bear cubs cool.

The cubs, en route to their new home in the zoological gardens at Charlottetown, Que., were caught in the Churchill district, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg. They passed through Winnipeg.

The cubs were spring-fed daily with cold water. Ice blocks were placed on top of their crates to keep them from getting too warm.

Certified Seed Pays

Canadian Potato Growers Could Easily Double Average Yield

The average yield of potatoes in the British Isles in 1942 was 280 bushels per acre or about double the average yield in Canada. The lower average yield in Canada appears due to the more general use of mediocre seed, states John Tucker, Manager, Seed Potato Section, Special Products Board, Dominion Department of Agriculture. With good certified seed yields of nearly one thousand bushels per acre have been obtained, and yields of nearly five hundred bushels per acre are not uncommon in good potato-growing areas every year.

An All-Time Record

British Magazine Pays Tribute To Growth Of Canada's Navy

The British magazine "Shipping" in its March issue paid tribute to the Royal Canadian Navy and termed its recent growth "one of the war-time surprises."

It recalled that in August, 1942, one-third of the North Atlantic convoy route was allotted to the R.C.N. the other two-thirds to Britain and the United States.

"Who could have thought three years ago that Canada would loom as large as that in so short a time as a naval power?" said the publication. "To be 30 times as large in personnel as when the war started has been done by no other navy, probably an all-time record."

CANADA MUST SOLVE ECONOMIC PROBLEM OF EX-SERVICE MEN AND THE GENERAL POPULATION

Toronto.—Brig.-Gen. H. F. McDonald, chairman of the Canadian pension commission, in an address here Saturday night suggested that the economic and social problems of the general population of Canada must be solved if veterans of the present war are not to experience some of the difficulties encountered by ex-service men of the First Great War.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual banquet of the War Amputations of Canada, he outlined measures taken after the First Great War to assist ex-servicemen in re-establishing themselves and those prepared for veterans of the present war.

In the interval between the two wars he said it was a little difficult to determine "to what greater degree the ex-service man suffered in the general catastrophe (depression and unemployment) by the particular reason that he was an ex-service man."

The general condition of economic deflation occurred before any orderly process of post-discharge re-establishment had time to operate.

"We had not solved the economic and social problems of Canada for the general population nor for the body of ex-service men of the last war," he said. "But this war, with all its tragedy, with all its sacrifice, has given us an opportunity to make a fresh start in many ways."

"If it does not do that, then another war will have been fought in vain."

LIFE SENTENCE

Given Man in Dublin Offering To Work For Reich

London.—A man who wrote to the German legation in Dublin expressing a willingness to work for the Reich was given a life sentence in Old Bailey. The letter was intercepted by censorship.

The maximum sentence under the law was imposed on William Frederick Craven, 28-year-old farm laborer and avowed admirer of Hitler. A former member of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists and interned twice during the war, Craven was rejected by the army because of his sympathies.

ANTHONY EDEN SAYS BRITAIN AND UNITED STATES AGREE ON THE POST-WAR PROBLEMS

London.—Foreign Secretary Eden, discussing his recent conferences in Washington before the House of Commons, disclosed he had invited U.S. State Secretary Hull to visit London and said he was satisfied there is "complete agreement" between Britain and U.S. on the "future policy toward France."

He described his conversations in Washington as similar to those had more than a year ago in Moscow with Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

He also reported that he and U.S. authorities "found a very close similarity of outlook" on post-war problems.

"I am satisfied," the foreign secretary said, "that as regards the future policy toward France there is complete agreement between us."

Eden said "there had been some misunderstanding in this country of the purpose the United States administration had in mind in maintaining relations with Vichy," but that these misunderstandings had been smoothed out.

"We naturally wanted to see all sections in France prepared to fight the common enemy united and together," he added.

He said an agreement on policy toward Spain, Portugal, Turkey and other European neutrals was reached and plans had been made for an im-

APPROVES PLAN

Medical Association Thinks Health Insurance Good Idea For Canada

Ottawa.—The Canadian Medical Association, in a submission presented to the House of Commons social security committee, expressed full approval of the principle of health insurance, coupled with suggestions along the lines of some features in the government's draft health insurance bill.

The submission was read by Dr. T. C. Routley, C.M.A. general secretary, who was introduced by Dr. A. E. Archer of Lamont, Alta., president. Dr. Routley said that while some of the members had studied the draft bill now before the committee the constituent societies of the association had not seen it and it was hoped the medical profession throughout the country would soon examine it in detail and be in position to discuss it.

"We visualize for Canada a system of health insurance which will be more all-inclusive and efficient than any which has yet been devised and operated anywhere," said the C.M.A. submission.

BIG WHEAT ORDER

7,000,000 Bushels For Purchase Of

Ottawa.—Trade Minister MacKinnon announced an agreement between the Canadian wheat board and the Belgian ministry of economic affairs covering the purchase of 7,000,000 bushels of wheat by the Belgian government authority.

Announcing the agreement in the House of Commons, Mr. MacKinnon said the contract, at 90 cents a bushel, had been subject to certain financial arrangements which now are completed. A first token payment has been effected.

The agreement covers 200,000 tons of wheat which will be made available upon demand by the Belgian government. A request for the wheat will be put forward "as soon as part or the whole of Belgium is liberated."

"The first shipment of 50,000 tons will be made within 10 days of this date," the remaining 150,000 tons to be shipped during a period of from two to three months later," the minister said.

RUSSIA PLEASED

People Like News Of Growing Air Offensive Over Germany

Moscow.—The news of the growing Allied air offensive against Germany and occupied countries was read joyfully by the Russian people, who began immediately to speculate whether it was a build-up for an invasion of Europe.

"The way American planes are increasing their activities in the air over Europe," one Russian said, "leads us only to one conclusion—her forces are getting stronger and soon should be strong enough to lead the attack by land."

Sergeant Doug and Sergeant Ernie Tood, left to right (if it makes any difference to you), are identical twins from Winnipeg, Man., serving with an R.A.F. squadron in England. These 23-year-old lads fly together in the same Stirling bomber. Both are wireless air-gunnners, but have solved the problem of staying together by alternating positions. One night Ernie goes as wireless operator and Doug as mid-upper gunner. Next night they change over. They have never been separated. Nearest separation came when they worked on different levels at a gold mine at Sioux Lookout, Ont.

GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCES PLAN TO ENCOURAGE PRODUCTION OF OIL-BEARING SUNFLOWER SEED

Ottawa.—Announcement of guaranteed government purchase prices to encourage the production of oil-bearing sunflower seed and rapeseed was made in the House of Commons by Trade Minister MacKinnon.

He said the government was arranging to pay, through the Canadian wheat board, five cents a pound for sunflower seed and six cents a pound for rapeseed, in reasonably clean condition, and with moisture content not exceeding limits to be determined and announced by the board, delivered f.o.b. shipping points to be named by the board.

Previously the minister had announced that the fixed price for No. 1 Canadian western flaxseed, basis in store at Fort William, would be continued at $2.25 a bushel for the 1943-44 crop year.

He announced that the fixed price of soybeans, another oil-bearing crop, would be continued at $1.95 a bushel, basis No. 2 yellow delivered at Toronto.

The agriculture department "was most anxious" to have sunflower seed and rapeseed production increased, Mr. MacKinnon said.

Excellent-edible oil of which we need all we can get is obtainable from sunflower seed, and in addition, the by-product cake provides a very good stock feed of particularly high protein content," the minister said.

"Rapeseed oil is used as a marine engine lubricant for which there is no satisfactory substitute. It is also valuable as an edible oil, and the by-product likewise provides a high protein feed."

"The Canadian wheat board will be empowered to establish discounts for sunflower seed and rapeseed which fails to meet the standards of quality I have just mentioned."

Arrangements are being undertaken by the seeds administrator of the agricultural supplies board for as wide a distribution as possible of available seed supplies.

"Because of the need for encouraging the wartime production of sunflower seed and rapeseed over wide areas of the country where such crops are not usually grown, it has been decided to fix the prices on the basis of local shipping points in order that the full prices will be available to the growers," the minister said.

Sunflowers were sown by an ordinary seed drill, with adjustments made, and with the land prepared as for coarse grains or wheat. Seeding was preferably early in May, and harvesting was left until the heavy fall frosts. It could be harvested with a combine, again after adjustments had been made.

Mr. Ross said he believed there was sufficient sunflower seed to sow between 70,000 and 80,000 acres.

A rapeseed crop could be produced in about 75 days. In western Canada the seed would be broadcast like any field crop, and could be harvested by combine or some other method.

Mr. Ross said he thought sunflowers would resist drought much better than wheat, or any other western Canadian crop.

STUDY NORTHLAND

To Gather Information For U.S. and Canadian Economic Purposes

Ottawa.—A Canadian-U.S. study of the possibilities of economic development of Alaska, Yukon, northern B.C. and adjacent portions of the Northwest Territories and Alberta are under way in Victoria.

The study was initiated by the joint economic committees of U.S. and Canada and is being conducted by the north Pacific planning project headed by Dr. Charles Cammell, deputy minister of mines and resources for Canada, and J. C. Rettle of the national planning board for U.S.

The immediate purpose of the study will be to gather basic information, and to develop proposals for the consideration of the joint economic committees. On the basis of this information the committees may make recommendations to the two governments regarding desirable measures of economic co-operation for the future development of the region.

TO COMBAT MALARIA

New York.—The Rockefeller Foundation said that it is financing some of the research for a new drug to combat malaria, the development of which would have "enormous military and public health significance."

PROPOSED IRRIGATION PLAN FOR THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES PRESENTED TO PARLIAMENT

Ottawa.—A plan for the development of irrigation and other water conservation projects in the prairie provinces calling for a total expenditure of $111,308,000 was presented to the House of Commons post-war reconstruction and re-establishment committee by George Spence, director of operations of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

In his brief on the future possibilities of large water development in the prairie provinces, Mr. Spence said there is a group of eight irrigation projects costing approximately $16,692,000 which could be constructed at once. These included the St. Mary and Milk river development in Alberta, which had already been recommended to the committee, and the Swift Current, Sask., irrigation project now under construction.

He said the second group of six irrigation projects, costing approximately $1,422,000, was practically ready for construction. Surveys had been completed but some additional information was still required and with adequate staff these could be ready in a year.

Preliminary surveys for another group of 12 irrigation projects at a rough cost of $48,011,000 had been made. Investigation still required to be made in greater detail but sufficient information was available to indicate that they were all quite feasible and desirable.

Mr. Spence said still another group of six irrigation projects, as yet unsurveyed, was known from reconnaissance to be possible. The total cost of these had been estimated, by a comparison with other projects, to be about $15,290,000.

The total estimated expenditure of $81,415,000 would provide irrigation for about 2,234,000 acres which, in addition to the area now irrigated, would make a total of 3,000,000 acres, he said.

Mr. Spence added that another group of water development projects, including storage on the Bow, Red Deer, North Saskatchewan and Clearwater rivers for power and irrigation, "and a number of other useful projects," estimated at approximately $29,863,000 would make the grand total for all projects $111,308,000.

"Allowing 60 per cent. for labor and 40 per cent. for materials, the distribution would be, labor $66,785,000 and material $44,523,000."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Ration Boards And Free Labour

Rationing in foodstuffs has been in practice throughout Canada for some time. We have no fault to find with the rationing system as we are in full accord that it is the fairest manner of distributing food supplies among the people. What does strike us as unfair however is the plea of the Federal government for free labor on the part of thousands of citizens to issue ration books, give freely of offices for their distribution and keeping thousands of committees working gratis in looking after the rationing requirements of the people.

As is usually the case in small towns, such as those in the Pass, a few citizens who carry the burden of community activity are given the additional task of forming a rationing board and maintaining its duties to the public. The duties of a rationing board are fairly heavy and here in Coleman the few workers, overloaded now with civic and patriotic duties, were unable to look after the additional task of forming and operating a rationing board, hence there is none in Coleman. In Blairmore the secretary of the rationing board is so overworked with the duties of the board at the present time that he cannot give his full attention to the job for which he is drawing a salary. He has to look after the rationing needs of the entire Pass this month in regards to applications for canning sugar and that is a big job in itself.

Public hearings at Ottawa the past few weeks have revealed extravagance in the purchase of office equipment, carpets, overlapping of publicity departments, etc. Elimination of such extravagance and the savings spent in small grants to the secretary of each ration board would go a long way towards improving the present rationing board set up in Canada. It is getting too big to be handled by gratis labour.

Crows Nest Pass Musical Festival

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 19, 20, 21, the eighteenth annual Crows Nest Pass Musical Festival will be held at Blairmore.

The festival was first started by the Rev. W. T. Young, then of Blairmore and now of Edmonton. It has been carried on very successfully since aided by such stalwarts as W. Kerr, of Bellevue, Wm. Chapell, of Blairmore and George Cruickshank, of Hillcrest, as well as the lady supporters among whom Mrs. J. H. Farmer has played a leading role.

While other districts have cancelled their festivals for the duration the Crows Nest Pass Musical Festival carries on providing an incentive to musical students throughout the district to improve their cultural knowledge and ability in the art of music.

This Is Fair

NOTICE—A charge of $10 will be made to all non-contributors who use St. Andrew's United Church for funerals. — St. Andrew's United Church Board of Managers—Lacombe Globe.

Churches are used as a convenience only in a time of necessity by some people. For a wedding or a funeral the services of ministers are called upon. Frequently a minister is called upon to conduct a funeral service over the body of a person whom he has never seen inside of his church. Yet the mantle of Christianity is thrown over the coffin and the rites of burial are given. It recalls an instance of a minister being called on to conduct a burial service of a non-member of his church, though the deceased had lived in the community for years. The minister stood in a pouring cold rain at the graveside and as a result contracted pneumonia which almost took his life. All this for one who during his lifetime acknowledged no responsibility to his church, not as much as a thin dime.

There is not a person who cannot afford some contribution to the work of his church. It is amusing in census records to note the names of people who claim to be members of various denominations, who ride on the bandwagon of professing membership in this or that church, but never stir themselves to help it financially or in any other way.

If the church is called on to honor them in death, and give them Christian burial, the recognition of its services should be made by relatives responsible for arrangements. Evidently St. Andrew's Church in Lacombe has had so many calls for free funerals for non-supporters that it takes this form of telling the unpleasant truth.

Commenting on such a gloomy subject as funerals recalls that they, too, can have a humorous side. An old newspaper in the Maritimes carried some rules to be followed at funerals, as conducted many years ago. It specified that the mourners were to supply their own crepe handkerchiefs, gloves, and other articles, even their own conveyances. But the prize bit was that they must return from the graveside without stopping for refreshments. Apparently they were in the habit, in those days, of stopping for a tot of gin or rum at the first convenient inn, to warm the cockles of their hearts after laying the corpse in the cold, cold ground.

Then there was the military band of a native regiment in Egypt. As they proceeded to the gravesides, the band played "The Dead March in Saul." Then as they marched home, playing the customary evening march, the tune was "We Drove His Club Money This Morning." Likely they all had a good drink on it, on returning to barracks.

Girl Guide Notes

Thank the Girl Guides for Lovely and Useful Parcel of Clothing.

Do you remember the display of children's clothing we had last fall, when Mrs. Shields was kind enough to put them in her window? We sent them to England, and this week we received the following letter:

"I am writing to thank the Girl Guides for the very lovely and useful parcel of clothing which you forwarded to our Hostel here at High Wycombe.

"You will perhaps wonder how I come into the picture, so I will tell you. I am also a Canadian, from Winnipeg, Manitoba, and I came to England in August, 1942, with a group of social workers, teachers and nursery school workers, called the Canadian Children's Services, have been stationed at High Wycombe since October, 1942, as Evacuation Welfare Worker, dealing with unaccompanied evacuee children, so am in close contact with the Hostel.

"As Matron has probably explained to you, she has only boys in her charge, and is therefore unable to use the lovely clothing sent, so she asked me if it could be put into good use in this district as I am in contact with a wider field. It has been decided to give the clothing to one of our nursery school groups where there are children from 2 to 5 years of age. I will advise you of the exact address and give you some further details in my next letter, but I did want to thank you very much for your interest and help.

"With many thanks for your kindness, yours very truly, (Mrs.) E. Glen Sharpe, Evacuation Welfare Officer."

We are delighted to know that our parcel had arrived safely in England. We have not heard from Mrs. Fitzmaurice, the matron of the hostel, and from Mrs. Sharpe's letter we imagine that perhaps she has written and the letter has been lost. We are looking forward to more news from Mrs. Sharpe.

Drill is taking quite a little of our time just now. Flight Sgt. W. Miller, of the Coleman Cadets, has been giving us the instructions, and his help is greatly appreciated. By the way, the Library is still operating. We have some books for older folks, too, now, so if you are interested we may have some you would care to read.

United Church Observes 37th Anniversary

During this past week end, St. Paul's United church observed its 37th anniversary. Saturday afternoon the Ladies' Association had a tea and salad supper, which was well patronized. On Sunday there were the two church services, and on Monday evening a church entertainment.

This year the church was delighted with the visit of Rev. Harry A. Mutchmor, B.A., B.D., from the Southminster United church, Lethbridge. Mr. Mutchmor was the guest anniversary preacher, and on Sunday morning spoke on the theme: "The Courage to Proceed." At the evening service, he preached from the theme: "The Innumerable Company of Saints of Our Age." These were very inspiring messages, and the contribution of the senior choir both morning and evening added much to the enjoyment of the anniversary Sunday.

Due to unavoidable reasons, Rev. Mr. Mutchmor and Mrs. Mutchmor, who accompanied him, were obliged to return to Lethbridge on Monday morning. This was the first visit of our anniversary guests to Coleman and the Pass, and they were very delighted with the mountain scenery and the hospitality of Mr. A. F. and Mrs. Short, who entertained them while here and showed them our community and industry. This was the first opportunity Mr. and Mrs. Mutchmor have had of seeing any part of British Columbia, and the first anniversary since coming to Alberta from Estevan, Saskatchewan, last fall, so that it will be a visit they will long remember and we trust cherish.

On Monday evening we were able to get the efficient services of Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, to give the evening anniversary address. Though it was short notice for Mr. Irwin, he gave us a very stirring address on "The Importance of the Social Phase of Our Christian Gospel." Due to illness and unavailability, our local artists' portion of the program was changed somewhat, but offerings of a solo by "Belle Cousins" and a quartet by Isobel Ewing and Gordon Roper, reading by Mrs. Robert Holmes and a solo by Rev. J. E. Kirk were well received and the evening concluded a most successful thirty-seventh church anniversary, which was made more pleasant by ideal weather conditions.

Honor Rolls Given Gratis by Dept. Nation Defence

Schools, Churches, Lodges, Etc., Able to Get Beautifully Colored Honor Rolls in Various Sizes.

The Department of National Defence offers to all interested organizations an Honor Roll, which has been specially designed by A. J. Casson, R.C.A., to meet the ever growing need for a large honor roll of approved and uniform design for use in industry, churches, schools, clubs, etc.

It is fitting recognition of those loyal men and women who have volunteered for active service in the Armed Forces of Canada.

This honor roll symbolizes in striking and heraldic form the historic majesty of the British Empire. The basic motif is the Canadian Coat of Arms, with flanking shields reproducing the Maple Leaf of Canada, the Shamrock of Ireland, the Thistle of Scotland, the Rose of England and the Fleur-de-lis of French Canada. Shown in the design of the base are the heraldic flags of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Reproduction of this honor roll is by a process which gives an especial brilliance to the colors, and at the same time provides the greatest degree of permanence. Colors used are red, blue, green, yellow, buff and gold. It has all the richness and dignity of a fine piece of illumination.

The local branch of the Canadian Legion and the Lions' club are two organizations known to have honor rolls. The Legion possesses a large one, which will accommodate well over 200 names. The Lions have a smaller roll on which are inscribed the names of the members having joined the services.

Organizations desiring honor rolls may secure the necessary information on how to secure them by approaching A. Easton, at the Legion club, or calling at The Journal office.

One pleasing feature about the honor roll is that the name of the organization or school is inscribed in brilliant colored letters on the roll.

Cigarette Fund Notes

The sum of $44.45 was collected at the bank on pay-Saturday.

Dear Sirs: Received cigs o.k. Many thanks for same to people of Coleman for remembering us. Met G. Burchell and Lewis Brown in the Beaver Club in London last week end. I also saw John Kanik in the holding unit, but as yet have seen very few of the Coleman boys over here. Thanks again.—Cpl. A. L. McLeod.

Dear Sir: Many thanks for the smokes. Everything is going fine. Give my regards to all back home.—Foss Boulton.

Dear Sirs: Thanks a lot for the smokes. They are coming in pretty well staggered at the present, but can't kick, as they finally get here and that is the main thing. Best of luck to everyone back there.—G. F. Derbyshire.

Dear Sirs: Received your cigs today and as usual they sure were a great help. The weather is grand over here at present and is quite a change from the cold winter of The Pass. I am going on leave this month and I do hope the weather remains fine.—L.C. J. Lloyd.

Dear Sirs: Thanks a million for the 300 "Sweet Caps." They really are appreciated. I met Ross Foster and he received some, too, and wishes to be remembered to all.—Pte. L. A. Caroe.

Dear Friends: Received cigs today. Thanks a lot. They are always welcome. Mail has not been so good for some time and we were getting short of smokes. Beautiful weather here, hope it continues. Thanks again.—Geo. Burchell.

Dear Sirs: Received tobacco today and it sure comes in handy. The boys seem to be having a lot of tough luck with their mail, but it is starting to come through again. Well, thanks a million to everyone who helps to send the parcels. As ever.—Cpl. F. J. Kilgannon.

Hello Boys: Received your ever welcome cigs. I am keeping fine and hope you are doing the same at home. Give my best regards to all at home. Well, so long, boys.—Jimmy Anderson.

Dear Friends: Many thanks for the cigs just received. I appreciate them more than ever. I am fine and the weather over here is just lovely at present. Hope all my good old friends in Coleman are o.k. I sure miss all my old friends, but hope it won't be long before we are all back home again. My best regards to everyone who make it possible for me to get these smokes.—Archie Wragg.

Dear Sirs: Thanks a million for the cigs. Having a pretty good time.—Pte. D. Nevary.

Dear Sir: I received your most welcome gift of 300 Sweet Caps this morning. Thanks a million and best of luck.—L. F. Hoyle.

Dear Sir: I received your parcel of cigs and as usual they were just when I needed them. I can't tell you how much I appreciate them and sure wish to thank you and all those who contribute to your cigarette fund.—Bill Naylor.

Dear Sir: Received cigarettes safely. Please convey my thanks to the other members for their thoughtfulness. Anything from the old home town is much appreciated, especially cigarettes. Best wishes to all.—LAC Alfred Jones.

Dear Sir: Just a note of appreciation for your kindness in sending me parcels of cigarettes.—LAC Youschuk.

Dear Sir: May I convey, on behalf of myself and of the men in the regiment, our appreciation and thanks for the gift of cigarettes which your fund so kindly sent us. As you know, there is always a certain delay in the receipt of personal parcels, and gifts such as yours are most welcome.—C. E. Bailey, Lt. Col. Officer Commanding 28 Cdn. Regt.

Dear Sir: Just a line to let you know I received a parcel of cigarettes yesterday. They couldn't have arrived at a more opportune time. I had been out for a couple of weeks and was getting by on these English smokes. They are plenty expensive and still going up. Also they are exceptionally hard on the constitution. It's just like eating Bully Beef for a month or two, and then someone slips you a tenderloin steak. Anyhow I want to thank all those who make it possible for us to receive a steady supply of these cigs.—O. Hirsch.

Dear Sir: Your cigs received. Thanks a million. Keep up the good work. Just back from a 14-day leave. Saw Mrs. Dave Gardiner, that used to live in Coleman. Cheerio for now.—E. R. Kennedy.

Dear Sirs: I received 300 smokes a few days ago. Do we ever look forward to them? Thanks a lot.—Dan Daly.

Dear Sirs: Thanks a lot for the cigarettes. These are the first I have received since the New Year. That should let you know how much I appreciate them.—Pte. J. Panek.

WHEN they come home—those boys who are fighting now—make them want to stay home. Make them happy and contented on the farm. They will have new ideas they want to try out. They may want to go in for new breeding stock; new crops; work out a drainage or irrigation project; do a big job of fertilizing. You are wearing out implements and equipment which cannot be replaced now. You may want to erect new buildings, or to add to present buildings. You may wish to modernize your farm with water or electricity. You may want a new motor car—new conveniences and comforts for your home. These things cost money. Save money now and invest your savings in Victory Bonds. They will provide cash for things you will need when the war ends.

You can buy Victory Bonds for cash in a lump sum, or you can arrange to pay for them in convenient instalments over a period of six months.

Your Victory Bond salesman will be glad to tell you full particulars.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity.

A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest.

A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

PETER AND JOHN IN GETHSEMANE

Golden text: Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation. Matthew 26:41. Lesson: Matthew 26:36-46; John 18:10-12. Devotional reading: Hebrews 2:17, 18; 4:14-16.

Explanations and Comments

Christ's Agony in Gethsemane and the Disciples' Failure There, Matthew 26:36-46. Out from the Upper Room where he had held his last meeting with his disciples, went Jesus and the eleven. Judas, being gone to arrange with his enemies to arrest him, along the silent streets, through the eastern gate of the city, down the steep sides of the ravine and across the Brook Kedron, then up the slope of the Mount of Olives to the Garden of Gethsemane, or orchard of the oil press, as its name signifies.

Bidding eight of the eleven tarry near the entrance of the Garden while he went farther to pray, Jesus took with him only the chosen three who loved him best, Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, James and John, and bade them stay awake for him. He was relying upon their sympathetic presence and watchful care in a time when his soul was exceeding sorrowful, even unto death.

"Jesus felt a human hunger for companionship. Jesus was personally sociable. He evidently enjoyed mixing with people. He liked the give-and-take of life. He had friendships. There was a group of men and women gathered around him who gave him their devoted loyalty. He in turn needed them. The denial of Peter and the betrayal of Judas hurt him partly because they were defectors from the comradeship of his group. In Gethsemane he craved friendship. He prayed to God, but he reached out for Peter and John. The longing for friendship and the unrest of loneliness was a proof of a truly human and social nature (Walter Rauschenbusch)."

Going a little farther among the trees, out of the moonlight probably, for it was the Passover and full moon, Jesus calmed himself on the ground in an agony of spirit and prayed that if possible the cup might pass away. The prayer was not that if God had the power to take away the cup, but if it were in accordance with his father's will that it should be removed. "The cup" stands for an appointed portion in Ps. 75:8. It is the portion of judgment; in Ps. 23:5 of mercy; here, of suffering and death.

Jesus went back to the disciples as though seeking their sympathy, but found them sleeping. To Peter he said, "Watch, could ye not watch with me one hour?" "Watch and pray," he counselled, "that ye enter not into temptation." "Watch and pray, all of you, so that ye may not slip into temptation." And then excused his faithless disciples, saying, "The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

Jack Miner

Jack Miner celebrated his 78th birthday on April 10.

During the past year the press has given him credit for publicizing Canada and promoting tourist trade more than any other single individual in the Dominion, while one editorial has referred to him as "Canada's Ambassador of Good Will." For 35 years Jack Miner toured both Canada and the U.S. at his own expense on lecture tours filling the largest auditoriums in both countries and preached the value of tourists coming into Canada.

Certainly no one will question but that his writings, his lectures on bird life and his bird sanctuary, which is a living example, has done more than any individual to awaken the interest in the value of Bird Life to not only Canada, but to all North America. Jack Miner's name is a household word when you mention bird life. At no expense to anyone he toured the western provinces of Canada seven times in five years preaching reforestation with the result many wind-breaks can be seen for miles on the prairies planted around farm homes and as wind breaks. The idea in many cases was awakened by him twenty or more years ago. His scientific research work in banding bird life and studying its route of migration can't be valued in dollars and cents from the educational standpoint while his missionary work in using the fowl of the air to spread the gospel, has caused many religious periodicals to refer to him as the greatest missionary on the continent.

Have Been Improved

Lights On Life-Jackets Of Merchant Navy More Efficient

The light which has for some time been a part of the life-jacket used by the Merchant Navy has been further simplified and improved. Not only is it now more efficient, but quicker deliveries can be made. The light itself is attached to the shoulder of the jacket by a spring clip which cannot be washed off even in the heaviest seas. The battery is in a pocket in the jacket, and the light is switched on by inserting a captive plug into a socket on top of the battery container. This can be done with two fingers, and no special instructions are necessary.

The light can be seen over great distances at sea, and many lives have been saved by it.

Tired Of Hardships

But German People Not Thinking Of Revolting Against Hitler

Maurice Hindus, in the American Magazine, says the information in letters found on the German dead, intimate and personal as it is, leads to some striking deductions. The people inside Germany hate the war and want it to end. They are tired of hardships, sick of sacrifice. They lament the moral disintegration of their young women; they shudder at air raids; they weep over their dead. But nowhere do they betray the least suggestion of German guilt or regret for horrors which the German armies perpetrate.

Hard as is their life, they know neither starvation nor desperation. Nor do they expect Germany to lose the war. To expect them at this time to revolt against Hitler is as futile and puerile as to expect the Fuehrer to live up to his promises or treaties.

Diaries of the German dead, particularly Nazi officers, support these conclusions. The Russians have gathered thousands of these.

Everyone was in the breakfast room the next morning when Kitty descended. Sheldon had informed them of the "masters' arrival and the buzz of conversation was quite audible as Smithy entered. Yes, they were all chattering together, his sisters Jill, Julia and Bridget, his brothers Chet, George and Julian.

They all greeted him but it was an odd get together for the undercurrent of it was apprehension. Just how much income would they lose now that their brother was back?

Smithy took the bull by the horns. He was going to step right into his father's business and start running it himself. Anyone who didn't believe in him, could not accept and be paid off in cash.

There were no buy-outs and but hung over the table like cigarette smoke. Finally everyone decided to be off and there was only one member of the family left, Kitty, step-daughter of Smithy's sister, Jill.

Smithy had noticed how Kitty had grown, been vaguely aware of her youthful, flowering beauty. Now she forced herself on his attention with shy flirtatiousness. "You know," she said, "I'll be eighteen in several years. And you'll probably be thinking of a woman in your life by that time—"

He was rather amused at her audacity. "I'll keep you in mind." "Will you?" she asked eagerly. "Oh, I know you're laughing at me but please don't do anything rash in the meantime because—because I do like you so awfully—and in a different way than when I was little."

His smile was tenderly mocking. "I'll remember that Kitty—but I'll have to think it over." She clasped his hand and blurted out, "Anyway don't you think I might come here in the holidays? Sort of take care of you?"

"What would your mother say?" "Jill!" Kitty made a gesture. Her twice divorced mother held very little sway over her. "Oh she wouldn't mind. She loves to get rid of me. Anyhow, you'll write, won't you?" He hesitated. Then he nodded. "All right if you want me to."

He watched them in the driveway as the car drove off and Kitty called back, "Goodbye Uncle Charles. Thanks for asking me to come and visit you in the holidays." They were gone and his face clouded over. Once more he felt alone. With the exception of Kitty they had given him no cheer, no comfort. But they had been human beings, his own kin.

Now he once more felt lost. In the next few years his work went surprisingly well. His offices in London were enlarged twice over and production in his many factories grew apace, doubling semi-annually. Quick to their own surprise, his brothers and sisters were drawing far larger incomes than they had ever anticipated.

True to his promise, Smithy had answered Kitty's letters. He had done even more, actually showed up at her college graduation and stopped in for a dance or two at her debut. Since then, he'd squirmed her about London and now they were his friends indeed, with much more in common than Smithy would have suspected. He often wondered where it was all leading but refused to pursue the disturbing matter any further in his thoughts.

It was a sunny June day and he and Kitty sat at a luncheon table just overlooking the Thames. They had been chatting gaily. Now Kitty spoke with a sudden abruptness. She seemed really grown-up in that moment. "Charles, you know you've spilt me for other men."

He was startled. "But my dear that's ridiculous!"

She crushed out her cigarette. "Oh, it's all right. I'll marry some nice young man eventually and be quite happy." There was a shame-faced Quite understandable. You're a lovely charming girl and I—I need someone like you. I'm depending on you to help me build a new life."

Her eyes rounded. "Then you really mean it Charles? You want me to marry you?" "And it isn't just something you'll forget when you go back to the office?"

He smiled. "If I do I'll tell my secretary Miss Ransom to remind me." She blushed and her eyes sparkled. "Oh Charles it's all so marvellous. Quick, take me out of here. Let's go some place where you can kiss me."

He returned to the office a little later and rang for Miss Ransom. For a moment he sat there, poring over the blueprints of the factory his company had just bought at Melbridge. He frowned. Melbridge. He'd never been there, yet the name of the place struck some spark in his mind. Then, as the door opened, he dismissed it.

His secretary stood there watching him for a moment. How often, she, Paula Ridgeway, known to him as Miss Ransom, had watched Smithy. And how her heart had ached for them both.

She had searched for him everywhere all those long years after he had disappeared. She had returned to the County Asylum at Melbridge, enlisted the help of Doctor Benet who had known him. Even after their young son had died, she had continued to search. But it had been useless.

Then she had taken a business course, obtained a job and one day a miracle had come. She had seen Smithy's picture in a magazine with tear in her eye. "But it's no secret is it?" That I've always been mad about you even as a schoolgirl?" He didn't reply and she added wistfully, "It is sort of a pity that you're not in love with me Charles. We do love the same things, enjoy so much together—"

"All you can do is wait and hope," advised Dr. Benet.

His voice was soft. He hardly knew himself, why he was speaking. "Perhaps I am, Kitty," she gasped. "Perhaps I am in love with you."

It was a second before she could control her voice. "Charles, you're not joking, are you? But it seems so fantastic, I can't believe it."

He reached across the table and took her hand. "Not fantastic Kitty."

the caption, "Charles Ransel, Industrial Prince of England." She had been ready to die to him but Doctor Benet had stopped her. Smithy wouldn't know her. He would accept her out of duty but she could never have the love he had given her as Smithy. Her one hope was that some day the memory door to their years together would open for him. So with this to feed on, she had finally manoeuvred a position with Smithy as his trusted secretary. For several years now, she had been his valued right hand.

As Smithy looked up he had no faint inkling that before him stood the woman he had loved. Briskly he began to go through the files with her. Then, on impulse he spoke. "Miss Ransom, you're the first to hear my news. You see, I'm being married."

A convulsive tremor went over her and she paled slightly but her voice was even as she replied, "To Miss Kitty I suppose? She's—she's a very charming girl."

He nodded. "I fully agree. Well, I'll be taking some time off. That means a lot of work in the meantime. Suppose we get started."

All afternoon they worked together but his brain was seething. He was going to be married and there was nothing she could do. Oh, she'd been through it all with Doctor Benet. He had warned her not to reveal herself. If when she had walked into Smithy's office it hadn't restored his memory what could her mere words do? She could claim her legal rights but that wouldn't give her back the Smithy who had loved her with such warmth and emotion on the day he had left.

"Paula," Benet had said, "I believe that you're still in that locked chamber of his mind. But your mere presence won't unlock it. The impetus must be from within. It can't be forced on him from the outside. All you can do is wait and hope."

But now the hoping was over. And he was going to be married and she must help make it right.

Big Crops For Gardens

Much will depend upon the location and size of the vegetable garden as to the crops grown in it. If tiny, say less than 50 feet square, then authorities advise concentrating on those vegetables which give the highest yield per row. This means small, compact things like carrots, beets, lettuce, beans, spinach, onions, radish, possibly a few stalked tomatoes. With the first items, even 12 feet of row, if given a little attention in the way of thinning, cultivation, and perhaps watering and fertilizing, should produce many good meals for the fair-sized family. And as the rows can be spaced a mere foot apart, a small plot will grow a lot of crops.

The stalked tomatoes will take up more room. They should be 18 inches apart in the row, but one plant should grow a big basket of tomatoes and if all side shoots are nipped off and the plant tied loosely to a six-foot stake it will ripen the fruit surprisingly early.

It doesn't pay to grow bulky things like potatoes in the tiny vegetable garden, and a winter's supply of carrots, onions, beets, etc., should not be attempted. Corn and peas take up a lot of room but because they are never so tasty as when taken right out of the garden at the back door, sometimes even city gardeners try to squeeze them in.

Garden crops should be grown in hills about 15 to 18 inches apart. To supply the small family at least a dozen hills of corn are necessary, and from 40 to 60 feet of row of peas.

Transplanting

These three most important factors in successful transplanting are moisture, shade and the exclusion of air from the roots. Whether the thing to be transplanted is a tiny, young shoot from the next row or a 15-foot maple, experts stress the points mentioned. If at all possible, they say, transplanting should be done on a dull day or evening. Soak with water around the roots and press the soil firmly to exclude air. If at all possible, and especially with big plants, shrubs and trees, regular and heavy watering are advisable, at least until July, with nursery stock. Moving a plant is something like an operation for a human being, and the more the gardener knows the more necessary the attention. With shrubs and trees, often main roots are cut and the shock is severe. Some experts in the way of quickly available commercial fertilizer will help at this time, merely a pinch for small things like tomato plants or asters, and perhaps up to a couple of handfuls for shrubs and trees.

I'm in a hurry.

Butcher—Sorry, madam, but two or three are ahead of you. You surely don't want your liver out of order.

"What's good for my wife's fallen arches?"

"Rubber heels."

"What shall I rub 'em with?"

Yellow.

Following luncheon Miss Prowski, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented the guest-of-honor with a handsome picture album. Lillian thanked the guests for their gift and expressed regret at leaving Coleman. She left on Saturday for Travers, Alberta.

Public Work Minister Inspects S. Alberta Roads

Expect Crows' Nest Pass Roads to Be Improved; Road Gang Has Been at Work West of Lundbreck For Some Time.

As preliminary to the starting of Alberta's 1943 road program, Hon. W. A. Fallow and his deputy, G. R. Monkman, are currently touring the south country, viewing local conditions.

Some time ago it was announced from Edmonton that the Crows' Nest Pass road would be improved this spring. For some months past a large work gang, with heavy equipment, has been at work on a gravel pit west of Lundbreck, and gravel dumps are to be seen at three spots along the road from Fincher to Lundbreck.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS and CLAIMANTS

In the Estate of JAMES CIMBAL, late of Coleman, in the Province of Alberta, Coal Miner, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons having claims upon the estate of the above named JAMES CIMBAL who died on the 15th day of August, A.D. 1942, are required to file with the undersigned Administrator by the 19th day of May, A.D. 1943, a full statement duly verified of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the Administrator will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to his knowledge.

DATED this 6th day of April, 1943.
ADMINISTRATOR OF ESTATES of the Mentally Incompetent for the Province of Alberta.
Government Buildings
Edmonton, Alberta

West of Coleman there are markers alongside the road, which would make it appear that the road had been under recent survey.

With the coming of warmer weather and upon completion of Mr. Fallow's tour, it is expected that some announcement will be forthcoming regarding the No. 3 highway in the Crows' Nest Pass.

Alex. Beck

During his residence in Coleman he had always been active and interested in the civic affairs of the community, and closely connected with the church, at first the Institutional church and then since Union the United church. He had been an official of the Church Board during almost his entire residence, and during later years a very keen and active Elder of the United Church Session. Mr. Beck was particularly interested in the young people of our community and church. He felt it was important that the youth of our day should gain the proper perspective to life, and the motives of youth had more to do with the future welfare of our civilization than any other force. The presence of Mr. Beck at the service of worship on the Sabbath was an inspiration. His was a word of courage and good will. He was interested in the business and other courts of the church at large, attending Presbytery and Conference sessions.

He has passed from our midst, but he will live for many years to inspire those who knew him best, with his fine ideals and Christian character.

GLYCERINE FOR ADOLPH BENITO & TOJO

Save ALL WASTE fats & bones

Canada needs and must have every spoonful of fat drippings, every piece of scrap fat and every bone from every kitchen in Canada. Fats make glycerine and glycerine makes high explosives. Bones produce fat. Also glue for war industry.

Don't throw away a single drop of used fat—bacon grease, meat drippings, frying fats—every kind you use. They are urgently needed to win this war.

Strain all drippings through an ordinary strainer into a clean wide-mouthed can. Save your scrap fat (cooked or uncooked) and all types of bones—cooked, uncooked or dry.

When you have collected a pound or more of fat dripping, take it to your meat dealer who will pay you the established price for the dripping and the scrap fat. Or you can dispose of them through any Municipal or Salvage Committee collection system IN EFFECT in your community.

Be a munition maker right in your own kitchen. For instance, there is enough explosive power hidden in ten pounds of fat to fire 40 sub-machine guns. So—every day, this easy way, keep working for Victory for the duration of the war.
